

REview and PREview
Wed 11/14/2018 2:00 PM

Good Wednesday afternoon! Trust you are off to a grand week! Last evening we had a successful Charge Conference meeting with our new District Superintendent, Rev. Mark Galang. Nearly time to say "goodbye" to 2018 and "hello" to 2019.

REview - Special thanks to Sandra Granger who wrote the material used on Sunday to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the end of WW I and the red poppy as our national symbol of remembrance. Several of you indicated you had not heard of Moina Michael. Sunday's remembrance is available in both audio and print on our website. Thanks to John Teichert, Glenn Wiggins and Juli Steffen for an excellent joy in telling the story.

PREview - The readings for Sunday will be Psalm 126, 1 Samuel 2:1-10, and Mark 13:1-8. I hope you'll get a chance to read them before Sunday.

We will focus on the "not one stone will be left on another" statement of Jesus. Can we practice Pentecost after temples?

For the time being, here's a reflection from Kayla McClurg - "Religious structures crumble, some teachers and healers lead people astray, and all kinds of alarms announce chaos and war—not to worry. These are not the endpoints of your journey, just signs along the way.

Breakdown is the natural outcome when your fantasies about worldly power begin to die and the inner eye begins to open. If you find yourself overwhelmed by all that is breaking down, you are not misunderstanding.

You are at last growing up."

Hope to see you Sunday!
Pastor Tom
